

Writing Center Report:

Takeaway Point #1: I would suggest adding a little more summary to your conclusion, specifically in regards to Freud. This will help tie back in what you talked about regarding his work while also reminding the reader what you discussed.

Takeaway Point #2: You do a very good job comparing and contrasting Hamlet, his actions and those of his mother's. The structure of which you did it also flows well, starting with Hamlet prior to the melancholy and then shifting to him and his mother after his father's death.